NIGHT RIDERS USE TORCH IN THREE COUNTIES.

Triple Raids at Same Hour and Depots Burned at Gracey, Cerulean and Otter Pond.

U. S. MAIL MATTER DESTROYED.

Trouble Precipitated By Establishment of Military Camp on I. C. Property at Cobb.

Night riders operated in Christian Caldwell and Trigg early yesterday morning and it was perhaps a general raid covering portions of three counties.

The depots of the Illinois Central railroad at Gracey, Cerulean and Otter Pond were burned at one o'clock in the morning.

The band at Gracey consisted of about 19 men. They rode into Gracey from the Cadiz road in eight buggies and there were two men on horses and one on a mule. They went to the exchange of the Cumberland Telephone Co. and took with them Tom McBride, the agent, who is also town marshal, and Wayne Stewart, a boy who was in the office with him. Also Tom Averitt and Herbert McConnell, two young men who were sleeping in the same building. They proceeded at once to the depot, knocked off a plank from the high basement of the depot, which was four or five feet off the ground, and taking kindling and oil brought with them in the buggies, a man went under the depot and started the fire. It was but a few minutes until the frame building was in flames. Taking McBride and the others across the Cadiz railroad, the band released them and quietly rode away. Not a shot was fired. The residents of the town, aroused by the burning building, found no evidence of night riders, except a lot of buggy tracks in the dust about the depot.

Information has come that the depot at Cerulean was burned about the same hour and another fire seen in the same direction was the depot at Otter Pond in Caldwell county.

A military camp was established at Cobb, in Caldwell county, Tuesday morning by Lieut. A. Utley, of Co. E, Madisonville, and 20 men. Capt. A. G. Chapman and Lieut. B. S. Winfree, battalion officers, also went with them. The soldiers are camped on the I. C. right of way, the only place in or near Cobb that could be secured.

About two weeks ago a squad of five soldiers under Lieut. Winfree stopped at Cobb while on a patrol and were ordered away by a crowd of men assembled at the place. The officer reported that the spokesman of the crowd told him that soldiers were not needed or wanted at Cobb and that they could not get anything to eat or drink for themselves or their horses. The soldiers remained two or three hours. They first stopped on the I. C. right of way. The agent came out and asked them to move off the

BATTERED WIFE'S HEAD.

Then Shot Three Men and Is Defying
The Sheriff.

Morgantown, Ky., July 22.—Jas. Bobbitt, a farmer, of this county, battered his wife senseless and shot her brother and two other men who tried to interfere.

Bobbitt is located in a house with his wife and is defying the Sheriff and pose of 50 men who have the house surrounded and says he will not be taken alive. It is not known how badly hurt the woman is. One of the men who tried to interfere and was shot, says the woman was on the floor with blood on her head when he was shot.

railroad property. They then moved a short distance to a vacant lot belonging to a non-resident and remained there until they resumed their journey, although one of the men present ordered them to get off the lot, claiming that it was controlled by him. There have been frequent threats reported to Maj. E. B. Bassett, in charge of the Western Kentucky troops, that his soldiers would not be allowed to maintain a camp at Cobb. The I. C. agent here cannot establish telegraphic communication with any of the stations between here and Princeton except Gracey, and that is by telephone.

The fire at Gracey is the first night rider outrage in Christian county since Feb. 26, when the dwelling house of Broussais Gregory, near this city, was burned. The only probable motive is the location of the military camp at Cobb, with the consent of the Illinois Central officials.

Lieut. Utley, in command at Cobb, is an experienced and capable officer, a veteran of the Spanish War. This is his first call to active duty since the tobacco troubles began.

The depot at Gracey was a neat frame structure containing a waiting room, telegraph office and freight room. It was about 20 by 50 feet long. But little freight was in the depot. Some colored preachers had held a meeting on the platform Tuesday night until a late hour. Their trunks were in the depot and a few articles of light freight that came on the night train at 6:15. The agent, C. L. Wadlington, went home early taking his cash box with him. The books left were destroyed, as nothing was saved.

The depot at Cerulean was a smaller building. Details of its destruction are meagre. Coming as it does in the height of the season at the Cerulean Springs hotel, about 100 yards from the depot, it is liable to prove a severe blow to that popular resort.

At Cerulean the cry of fire followed the discovery of the flames at the depot, which is near the hotel, and much excitement was caused. Many of the guests came out of their rooms under the impression that the hotel itself was on fire.

The depot at Otter Pond was worth about $1,000, the one at Cerulean about $1,200 and the one at Gracey about $1,500. With several cars and other property destroyed, the loss will probably amount to $5,000.

At Gracey there were three cars alongside the depot. One containing several hogheads of tobacco consigned to R. E. Cooper & Co., and the American Snuff Company was rolled out of reach of the flames. The other two, empty cars, were allowed to burn.

In the burned depot was a sack of U. S. Mail matter en route to Cadiz and this brings about a new complication for the night riders, as the Government will of course take up the matter for investigation.

The Illinois Central Company is an Illinois corporation and litigation is expected to result in the federal courts.

Maj. E. B. Bassett was here yesterday and received a report from the officer at Cobb to the effect that much activity was displayed and numerous conferences were held dur-

BAD ACCIDENT AT SALUBRIA

Mrs. Taylor, a Springfield, Guest, Fractures Her Hip.

FELL FROM WAGON.

New Resort Is Having a Fine Run of Patronage.

A serious accident happened at Salubria Monday. A young man named Taylor, of Springfield, Ky., with his young wife, to whom he was married about five months ago, is at the Salubria Hotel. Monday Mrs. Taylor went out on a hay wagon with a party of guests to take a ride and fell from the wagon and broke one of her hips. Her injury was attended to by local doctors and she is now getting along well, but will of course be unable to get out for five or six weeks. She has had her room changed to the lower floor where she can hear the music and see out of her window and is making the best of the situation. Her husband is connected with the distillery firm of Taylor & Williams.

Salubria now has about 40 or 50 regular boarders, among them being Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Watkins, of Louisville, and last Sunday another big crowd of about 125 guests spent the day there.

TWO MINUTE SKETCHES

By ROBERT J. LOVE.

"Give me liberty or give me death!"

HUGO MUNSTERBERG
Distinguished psychologist and writer who contributed a paper in the August McClure's on "Prohibition and Social Psychology."

A striking feature of the August McClure's—One that will be widely discussed—is an essay on "Prohibition and Social Psychology," by Prof. Hugo Munsterberg. The distinguished psychologist says: "Better America Inspired than America Sober."

"There must be indeed a possible middle way between the evil of the present saloon and the not lesser evil of a future national prohibition; yet, if this one-sidedness of discussion goes on, it is not difficult to foresee, after the legislative experiences of the last year, that the hysterical movement will not stop until prohibition is proclaimed from every state-house between the Atlantic and the Pacific."

Another strong feature, from a pictorial standpoint, is the reproduction of several of the best paintings of Alexander Borisoff, the Russian artist, who went to the frozen north and painted the marvelously beautiful colors of the Arctic region on the spot. Richard C. Cabot, an eminent physician of Boston, analyzes one hundred "Christian Science cures," declaring that Christian Science treatment does not cure organic diseases. The "Reminiscences of Carl Schurz" continue, with an intensely interesting account of two interviews between the author and Bismarck, in 1867, and Ellen Terry, in her memoirs, tells of her last years with Henry Irving. In fiction there are a half-dozen stories, everyone of which possesses exceptional merit: "A Story of Hate," by Gertrude Hall; "Patsy Moran, the Book, and its Covers," by A. S. Hoffman; "His Need of Miss Sloma," another Ezekiel story, by Lucy Pratt; "The King of the Backwoods," by Percival Gibbon; "The Forehand Colquhouns," by Margaret Wilson; "The Moving Finger Writes," by Marie Belloc Lowndes.

Not a Matter of Creed.

A man addicted to walking in a sleep went to bed all right one night, but when he awoke he found himself on the street in the grasp of a policeman. "Hold on," he cried, "you mustn't arrest me. I'm a non-nambulist." "Hold on," the policeman replied: "I don't care what your religion is—yet can't walk the streets in your nightshirt."—Everybody's BACK, kidneys are suffering.

KING WEARS TROUSERS

And Mother-in-Law Hits the Trail Back Home.

London, July 20.—Dispatches from Madrid show that mother-in-laws are troublesome even in royal families, as the youthful King of Spain has discovered to his sorrow.

It appears that the mother of his bride, the Princess Henry, of Battenberg, endeavored to keep up with mother-in-law traditions, and run the household of the royal couple at Madrid. First the jars in the married life were slight, but daily they increased in violence until the King put his foot squarely down and gave his mother-in-law an example of Kingly temper that rather surprised the Princess.

The quarrel was tempestuous, the exchange of compliments being entirely outside the book of court conversation, and the result was that the mother-in-law suddenly packed her baggage and left the palace, vowing she would never return.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatism, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with your kidneys.

Mrs. W. L. Bailey, living on East Greenville street, Madisonville, Ky., says: "It is four years since I recommended Doan's Kidney Pills through our papers, and my confidence in them during the time which has elapsed has not been shattered in the least, but to the contrary, I learned more about them and can recommend them even more strongly. I said at that time that Mr. Bailey had suffered with kidney complaint off and on for a number of years, and had used almost every known remedy for this trouble but nothing brought permanent results. He finally learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box. They benefited him in every way, more so than all other kidney medicines he had ever tried. He has used them many times during the past four years, and they have never failed to give him relief from these severe attacks. I have used Doan's Kidney Pills myself for a weakened condition of the kidneys and they proved just as satisfactory in my case. We both think there is no remedy like Doan's Kidney Pills. For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Everybody's for August.

"One who was not afraid, and who spoke the truth." This is the summary that F. Hopkinson Smith makes of the character of Captain Thomas A. Scott, Master Diver, whose life he sketches in the August Everybody's. Captain Scott was a plain American, one of the "common people," with a heart full of the milk of human kindness, a hand ever ready to help and protect the weak. He was a real hero—the record of his life as a wrecker and diver proves this. It is full of instances of his nobility and sacrifice of self, and not only inspires and uplifts, but forces one to be an optimist.

HANDLE THE WASTE.

Putting Sawdust to Practical Use in the Lumber Business.

Sawdust is one of the puzzling wastes in lumbering operations. The waste is serious, too, for the kerf—the part cut out by the saw in the mill and transformed into sawdust always bears a rather high ratio to the boards obtained. In cutting thin kerf, one-fourth of the log, or even more, may be kerf.

Efforts to turn sawdust into pulp for the paper mill have usually been unsuccessful on account of mechanical difficulties in handling. In several European countries, however, a new way has been found of turning sawdust to account. The sawdust, chiefly pine and fir, is ground with millstones, exactly as old-time mills made cornmeal, or wheat or rye flour. Expensive machinery is not required, but it is necessary to take special precautions against fires which might start from sparks between the millstones.

The sawdust flour is sold to the dynamite factories to be mixed with nitroglycerine and forms the body or absorbent for that high explosive. It is also in demand for the manufacture of cheap blotting paper. The mills in the Harz Mountains, in Germany, an important manufacturing center, are kept busy meeting this demand.

The price of the "flour" in Germany ranges from $7.50 to $12.50 a ton. It is shipped in bags, like meal, or in bales of about 40 cubic feet, made by means of high pressure.

FOLDING STEP LADDER.

May Be Used on Stairways With Perfect Security

Painters and paperhangers often find it necessary to use a stepladder on a stairway or in some other inconvenient place where the tread part of the ladder must be set on a different level from the legs.

In such conditions a folding ladder like the one here illustrated would be found indispensable. This ladder is not intended for the use of decorators alone, but is adapted for all the requirements of the household. Both the tread portion and the supporting legs are made in sections which may be separately folded, as desired, to make either side longer or shorter than the other. When both sides are fully extended the ladder has the proportions of an ordinary stepladder, and when both sides are folded the ladder is reduced to one-third its original length so that it may be stowed away in a small space.

SECTIONS SLIDE TOGETHER

BLUING OF LUMBER.

Discoloration of the Wood Caused by a Species of Fungi

The forest service has undertaken experiments at Bogalusa, La., with the object of rendering lumber immune from the attacks of bluing, thereby stopping what at present is a serious loss.

Bining is due to the growth of low forms of fungi, all of which probably belonged to the genus ceratostomella. This plant is too low in the scale of life to produce true seeds, but as a substitute it produces microscopic organisms called spores, which when ripe are carried away by the wind in countless numbers.

The air of forests, and especially around many lumber yards, is so infected with such spores that when timber is placed in the yard to dry it is infected with them. If the timber happens to be moist and possesses the necessary food to support the life of the plant the spores immediately germinate and send little threads, or hy-

Their action decomposes the sap and causes the wood to become discolored. The deterioration in value of lumber on account of this pest amounts to thousands of dollars each year.

To Make Waxed Paper.

This is used for keeping substances which either contain volatile aromatic ingredients or grease, which would penetrate through ordinary paper. One takes a sheet of copper over a gentle fire, places a sheet of paper as a base and then lays a second sheet on the top of the first, the first sheet of paper with the substance to be kept on it, and the latter uniformly over the entire sheet by means of a sponge, exerting a little pressure, till the paper is everywhere transparent and consequently permeated by the wax. If the fire is too feeble, the process will be retarded. Too powerful a flame is still more harmful, as the paper is liable to become scorched. The steam may be used instead of wax-Dr. Industrieller's Geschäftsmappe.

Asbestos Plates

The asbestos slates of a Munich firm are claimed to be not only waterproof, but as hard and strong as natural slate, so that they can be applied to walls or roof without lathing or boarding. They can be bored, nailed or cut like wood. They make wooden walls fireproof, serve for heat and electric insulation and protect from damp and vermin.

Chicago's latest population figures, based on the school census, are 1, 940,000.

Dr. A. D. James has been nominated for Congress by the Republicans of the Third district.

As a result of the miner's strike at Birmingham, Gov. Comer, of Alabama, has ordered 200 cavalry troops into active service.

Sheldon, the manager of the Republican National committee, is a director in 21 corporations. Candidate Sherman is no slouch himself, being a director in fifteen.

Louisiana's new prohibition law, which went into effect Monday, makes it a misdemeanor for a man to drink from his own flask on trains in the State.

Taft follows the example of Bryan and announces that no campaign contribution will be accepted from corporations. This time the amounts will be turned in by individuals.

The American Indian Tewamita, of Carlisle Indian School, is expected to win the great Marathon race, 26 1/2 miles in length, to be run as the Olympic games feature next Saturday.

Six Hungarian workmen in Buffalo, out of work, formed a suicide pact and threw themselves under railroad trains and were crushed to death. The bodies of all of them were in the morgue at the same time.

The rapid rise of Austin L. Peay, a Christian county boy, in the politics of Tennessee, his adopted State, is very gratifying to his Kentucky friends, who admire his talents as a leader, and his worth as a citizen.
His service in the legislature gave him State prominence and in the

BRUNER WARNS BANKS

That Their Statements Must Be Given to Paper of Largest Circulation.

Secretary of State Bruner is receiving frequent complaints that many of the banks are disobeying the law in not having their quarterly reports published in the newspaper having the largest circulation. The law says the bank report must be published in the local newspaper having the largest bona fide circulation, and a heavy fine is provided for a violation of the law. Of course it is a hard matter sometimes to determine which newspaper has the large-est bona fide circulation, but it is alleged that in many instances the banks do not even inquire as to the circulation of the newspaper in which their reports are published.

As yet the Secretary of State has taken no steps to have any particular bank fined for this violation of the law, because no prima facie case has been made out against any particular bank; but he is looking into several complaints that have been made, and may decide to enforce the law strictly in the future.—Frankfort Dispatch.

RIGDON WHIPPED.

Charged With Unlawfully
Taking Up Cattle.

Maysville, Ky., July 22.—Shortly before daylight, Samuel Rigdon, of Murphyville, was taken out and brutally whipped by masked men, who declared that Rigdon had taken up unlawfully cattle belonging to Lucy Wells and Ben Cole.

Rigdon is a prominent Equity man, and tobacco had nothing to do with the whipping.

This morning he swore out warrants here for Ben Cole and Bayless Wilson, whom he charges were in the gang that whipped him.

Moved to Mexico.

W. P. Toland and family left at noon today for Mexico, where they will make their future home. Mr.
Toland was a citizen of Owensboro for nearly seven years and the greater part of that time he was head miller at Bransford's Mills on East Fourth. He is to accept a position with the Pollock Milling Company,

Mr. Toland is a former Hopkinsville man, related to Mr. N. Zimmer.

BATTLE WITH MINERS.

One Negro Killed and Three Deputies Shot.

Birmingham, Ala., July 21.—A clash between deputies and negro miners in the Blue Creek region, twenty miles south of Birmingham on the Birmingham Mineral division of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, to-day resulted in one negro being shot and two deputies, Newsom and Whately, being seriously wounded, the first-named in the shoulder and the latter in the thigh.

The deputies were on guard on the hill overlooking the mining town when they saw armed negroes coming along the road. The deputies called to the negroes to stop when a fight was offered. Two of the negroes used their guns with precision.
The deputies appeared to pick out one man and he was literally filled with lead. The shooting created much excitement.

Sheriff Higdon, upon being informed of the disorder, prepared for re-enforcements to the Blue Creek region. Arrangements had been made previously for forty members of the military and these were at Johns before another two hours.
There was a general distribution of troops throughout the district this afternoon, a galling gun being being placed at Republic and one at Blossburg, while troops have been distributed so that they can be mobilized in a very short time.

The eviction of miners from company houses began at No. 7 mines, Pratt division, this morning. There was no disorder.

TO ERECT MONUMENT

Goebel Statue Will be in Lexington, Ky., July 21.—Wm.

Adams & Son, of this city, the contractors who will erect the monuover the grave of Gov. William Goebel in the Frankfort cemetery, expect to have the monument completed and in place within less than a month and it will then be veiled until the time for the dedication ceremonies, which will be held in September. Adams & Son this week sent a large force of workmen to Frankfort to lay the foundation for the big granite base of the monument. This base is to be 18 feet high and cover the grave. It was cut in Vermont quarries and then shipped direct to Frankfort.

Mr. Adams said today that he expected the bronze statue of Gov.
Goebel, executed by Charles H. Nie-haus, of New York, to arrive by the time the base is ready to receive it.
He has received notice of its shipment from New York.

A great crowd of tobacco farmers were addressed at Mayfield Monday by Col. Joel B. Fort and Col. Felix
G. Ewing. The Messenger says:
"Mr. Fort made one of his very best speeches. It was not inflammatory and not inclined to cause people to become lawless and violate the laws of their country, but he gave plenty of hints to the hill billies and to the opposition of the tobacco association that to undertake to break down the great work of the people who raise tobacco have brought about, would be a little dangerous during the coming fall and winter."

"After he closed his remarks, Hon.
Felix G. Ewing was introduced by Mr. Usher to make a few remarks before the great crowd of people which was before him. Mr. Ewing only spoke a few minutes and said on account of his feeble health he would have to return to his room. Mr.

A TEMPERANCE WORKER.

Says Peruna is a Valuable Nerve and Blood Remedy.

MISS BESSIE FARRELL.

MISS BESSIE FARRELL, 1011 Third Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., is President of the Young People's Christian Temperance Association. She writes: "Peruna is certainly a valuable nerve and blood remedy, calculated to build up the broken-down health of worn-out women. I have found by personal experience that it acts as a wonderful restorer of lost strength, assisting the stomach to assimilate and digest the food, and building up worn-out tissues. In my work I have had occasion to recommend it freely, especially to women."

"I know of nothing which is better to build up the strength of a young mother, to fortify all the ailments peculiar to women, so I am pleased to give it my hearty endorsement."

Dr. Hartman has prescribed Peruna for many thousands of women, and he never fails to receive a multitude of letters like the above, thanking him for his wonderful benefits received.

ing the day at Cobb. Parties were coming and going during the day. One man from Hopkinsville went on the same train with the soldiers and after conferring with parties at Cobb returned on the 3:50 train. The soldiers saw two of the fires break out in opposite directions about 1 o'clock. Close watch was kept on parties who left their homes in the village and some very important information was secured.

Who belief is strong that a period of activity may be expected in night rider circles. The soldier episode at Russellville last week, the presence of troops at Guthrie, the prosecutions in Marshall, Lyon and Caldwell and the recent happenings in the vicinity of Cobb have all tended to stir up the lawless element and there have been many indications that trouble was to be expected.

Troops at Cobb.

The presence of troops at Cobb is believed to be the result of an investigation that has been quietly going on by the State authorities in connection with the mysterious disappearance of Leonard Holloway on May 17, following a visit of night riders. Holloway was at Cobb Station overnight a while before that, and the report is, was taken out behind a store by a crowd of men, blindfolded and carried into a room near by and accused of being an informer and dire threats were made against him if he dared to leave his home at night. On the 17th of May he and his wife attended religious services in a school house between Cobb and Cerulean, near his home, and that night at 12 o'clock a gang of masked men called him out and took him away, and he has not been heard from since. Holloway was a son-in-law of a man named Mitchell. About a month after Holloway's disappearance a barn on the farm of Jack Davis, upon whose farm Mitchell is a tenant, was burned in the night. But little information can be obtained of these affairs, but the supposition is that Gov. Willson had a well defined purpose in locating soldiers in the hot bed of these disorders.

NEGRO SCHOOLS

Discussed by Prof. Crabbe in Bulletin.

GIVES ADVICE TO SUPTS.

Urges Colored Citizens to Accept New Law.

Frankfort, Ky., July 22.—Improvement in the colored schools of the State is to be brought about by the operation of the new school law, in the opinion of Prof. J. G. Crabbe and he issued a bulletin to-day in which he advises the negroes of Kentucky to accept and support the law. Prof. Crabbe says the law puts the control of the negro schools in the hands of the white people, but he believes that this will be best for the schools. He urges the importance of the new law as it applies to the negro schools. The bulletin, which throws new light on the Sullivan law, is as follows:

The Colored Schools.

First—The New School Law—The County School District Law—Repeals all old laws in conflict. See Section 13.

Second—The old three-trustee system with its regime is displaced by the county school district law; the old provisions both of white schools and colored schools are repealed in every particular with reference to the old district trustees and the old district taxation.

Third—The new law provides for equal school facilities for white and colored alike. Note these points:

(a) The educational divisions shall include white and colored children.

(b) The County Board of Education attends to the needs of white and colored schools.

(c) The County Board of Education is to consolidate schools with reference to the needs of white and colored schools.

Fourth—To cover my premise more clearly I repeat from bulletin No. 4: Four classes of schools are exempt from the provisions of the new act:

1. City and town system. See Section 1.

2. Graded common school districts. See Section 2.

3. Schools incorporated under special charter and supplemented by a local tax of at least 20 cents on the $100. See Section 2.

4. Schools created by special act having special extra fund. See Section 2.

Colored Schools Not Exempt.

Fifth—A few words about the perplexities of white graded common school districts and colored common school districts within the same territory. To illustrate:

(a) A white graded common school district is exempt entirely—eliminated—from the new law.

(b) A colored common school district which is within the same territory named in (a) is not exempt.

(c) Therefore, the colored district named in (b) is a vital part of the new system and must be constituted a part of the subdistrict, a part of the educational division and a part of the county district.

(d) I say advisedly in (c) "a part of the subdistrict." For the subdistrict (composed of the colored children only) cannot become the entirety of the subdistrict. I refer again to bulletin No. 4 (2, about re-districting), which says: "Boundaries are to be based on white children." I suggest that you carefully read once more Section 2 of the new law. Hence the subdistrict is to be based on white children. But there are no white children within the system of the new law in the territory named in "b," so that such a subdistrict cannot be established alone, but it must be a part of some subdistrict, which, according to law, is based on white children.

Sixth—Some have asked whether a few colored persons might not be selected as trustees. I would deplore any friction about this splendid system; I earnestly ask that there be no friction of this sort. I do not care to speak of the legality of the question, but I am chiefly concerned in this matter—first and last—that the negro child shall have a chance to be educated. I am absolutely certain to come to pass by the next General Assembly: Either (1) The colored schools in Kentucky are to continue to be maintained and operated under the new school law, uniformly with the white schools, with its opportunities and privileges and its beneficial taxation, buildings and accommodations—and a white trusteeship; or (2) The colored schools will force upon the lawmaking body of Kentucky the antiquated three-trustee system, with its vicious tendencies, its poor schools and houses, its beggarly teachers, its waste of State funds, its no supplement of tax—and a colored trusteeship.

Success at Ashland.

I have faith in the negro of Kentucky who will herald a new era for the colored schools—whose leaders will champion the cause of a larger and better system of education for their people. As superintendent of the public schools of Ashland, Ky., I was, for eighteen years, in charge of all the city schools—white and colored. For these years the colored schools have had a real part in the system. Eight white men have composed the board of education. The superintendent has supervised the work. A splendid building has been erected. Teachers have followed the regular salary schedule. The course of study has been enforced in every department just as it has been maintained in the white schools. I am proud to believe that the colored department of the Ashland public schools is the peer of any colored school in the Commonwealth. Many cities of the State conduct their white and colored schools just as Ashland has conducted its schools.

Ashland is no fairy tale. Under the new law—the county school district law—every colored school in Kentucky may become a modern school. The management, to be sure, shall be a white management, but the management shall provide the needs of the individual schools for white and colored pupils—buildings, improvements and equipment, supplies, payment of teachers and extension of the term. I counsel the negro to eliminate all friction so that the new law may have an opportunity to prove itself. I counsel you not to worry about white trustees, but I urge that all alike select clean, square, good white trustees. I repeat a sentence from Bulletin No. 4: Under the new law the leading negro educators of the State voice with Dr. Wood, one of the representatives of his race, in an editorial of the Torchlight: "About the only abjection urged by our people against the bill is that it may rob the negro trustee of the honor of the office, but this honor is so insignificant, when compared with the good of the child and the future of the State and the race, we do not think it worthy of mention in this connection."

I ask every county superintendent and every official to weigh well the considerations herein given in supplement to Bulletin No. 4. Will you follow me in this lead of uplift and general education for the good of mankind and for the betterment of old Kentucky? Will you forego personal prejudice and personal notions and personal rights in the common cause? I repeat: We are inaugurating here and now the biggest forward movement of the schools in Kentucky since the past forty or fifty years. Join with your most representative people, both white and colored, and let us make it unanimous. By amendment during the next General Assembly we can evolve a really great school system, adapted to Kentucky's peculiar needs.

At the End Of the Wait.

By WILLIAM H. HAMBY.

Copyright, 1907, by M. M. Cunningham.

A deep feeling of content and satisfaction possessed David as he looked across the hills and valleys to the south.

"Yes," he said within himself, "as will like this when she comes."

He bought the plateau on top of the hill, scarcely more than forty acres in all, and hired men to clear it.

He took an axe and went with them into the timber, for, although David was a dreamer, he could work with his hands even while the visions were upon him.

Before autumn came the ground was cleared, and then fruit trees and berries were set out. The house which David built was planned carefully so that it might be a rest to the body and a pleasure to the taste. A half dozen doors had been left growing in the yard, and a hedge of roses was planted all the way around it. Walls were laid and flowers planted beside them.

David had some money—not much, but enough. Still he chose to work every day among the trees or in the garden. "Every evening he sat on the porch and dreamed and waited."

When the orchard was bearing and the rough places had been made smooth David's lodge on the hill was the admiration of the community. Visitors were brought to see it, and tourists, who sometimes came to the Ozarks, went out of their way to see the hill that blossomed as a garden.

David still worked and dreamed and waited. Sometimes at evening as he sat alone upon the porch and looked out over the silent places—the hills and the valleys—a sense of loneliness came over him.

Suppose she should never come? Even the shadow of a doubt made him grow sick at heart. But she would—surely she would. Somewhere was the girl of whom he dreamed; the one that loved the things he loved and thought the thoughts that came to him.

Some time he would grow tired and turn aside to the hills. Then she would find the faintest one of them all, and when she climbed to its top the home would be ready, and he would be there waiting.

One day when the apple trees were in bloom and the oaks were brown David felt that as he worked in the orchard strangely torn between doubts and hopes.

A vision would come of a cozy hearth, with the dream woman sitting where the light fell on face and hair. Then it would fade, and he would see himself, old, lonely and disillusioned by time, the wreck of a foolish hope.

It was after sundown when he came to the house. As he entered the yard he saw a girl sitting on the edge of the porch looking across the hills to the south.

She did not turn, and as he stood still watching her his pulse grew strong and rhythmic until every nerve in him sang.

This was the dream woman. "Do you like it?" he asked directly. She did not start at the sound of his voice, but looked up and smiled. "Yes, it is perfect."

He sat down on the edge of the porch near her. "I am visiting my aunt," she explained, "and I wanted to climb this hill. When I got here it was so beautiful and restful I couldn't leave."

For a few minutes they sat in silence. The south wind came over the valleys laden with the incense of the wild plum and the wild grape. They breathed the clean, sweet air in perfect content.

She arose to go. He went with her to where the road turned down the hill. "You will come again?" he said.

"Yes," she said, "I would like to." "Will you show me the place?" he promised.

Two days later she came again. They went through the orchard and garden and then to the edge of the hill, where it falls away almost perpendicularly. They sat on a flat rock and watched the sun go down.

"Isn't it restful?" she sighed. "So quiet, but full of thought." They talked of it.

been, there hers had gone also, and whatever she had felt or dreamed he had, too, understood.

Often she turned her wide open, frank eyes upon him in wonder at the keenness and power of his thoughts, his seemingly unbounded knowledge.

"I wonder," she said musingly, "why you are not out in the world."

"I am," he laughed, "unless you call this paradise."

"But you are not ambitious?" she questioned.

"No. Why should I be?"

"There is so much to do in the world," she said, "and you have so much ability."

"I work every day," he smiled.

"But there is so much to be done to help people, and they need it so much."

"Whenever I see a fellow that needs help I help him if I can," he replied cheerfully.

"But think of the multitudes you can never see here," she argued.

"Do you believe that everybody was made to quit his work and go out and hunt for distress?" he asked.

"No, of course not everybody."

"If there ever was one that was not, that one am I. I was made for this," and his gesture took in the hills and sky.

"I was made to be a dreamer. I did not make humanity suffer, and God has never laid on me the job of curing their diseases and distresses, except such as I meet in my daily work."

"It is a pleasant philosophy," she said, with a slow smile, "but I fear it is selfish."

She seemed to be troubled as they went down the hill and said little.

For two weeks he did not see her again. He waited, poised dully on the narrow ledge that runs between darkness and light.

If she was really the dream woman, after a little struggle with the sense of duties that, although never hers, had been laid upon her, she would see as he saw and come to know that this was her life too. But if she were not the one for whom he had so long waited she would go away and he would never see her again.

It had been another day of doubts and fears. Perhaps she had already gone. That he was a cruel dreamer, after all. The sun was down and the robins had begun their good night song when he went to the house. As he came near his step quickened and his heart beat fast. She was on the porch, just as he had seen her that first time.

As he hurried toward her she arose, her soft hair blowing lightly about her face, and, with a smile of timid confession, held out her hands to him.

He took them both and held them tight. The lids drooped and covered her eyes, and the blood came up until it bloomed a beautiful confession in her cheeks.

"I knew you would come, dearest. As I dreamed of you it was always like this."

"Yes," she said softly; "it was always just like this."

House Plant Showers.

Shower your plants two or three times a week to wash the dust off their leaves and prevent the ravages of the red spider. This pest destroys plants in a hot, dry atmosphere. Keep it moist and he will not do much damage. A showering, bear in mind, doesn't mean a slight sprinkling. It means a real shower, and the result of it is that your plants are wet all over.

There is only one thing better than a thorough showering for house plants and that is a dip bath. Fill a large tub with water and submerge your plants under, leaving them submerged for two or three minutes, and you have the satisfaction of knowing that water has got to every part of them. No insect can possibly escape such a bath as that.

If the red spider has begun to injure your plants before you were aware of his presence, heat the water in your tub to 120 degrees and immerse the infested plants in it, allowing them to remain under about half a minute. This will kill the spider without injuring very delicate plants.—Eben E. Rexford in Outing Magazine.

A Watchman's Precaution.

An official of one of the big manufacturing concerns of Cleveland happened to be near the plant the other night and thought he would take a turn about the place to see if the watchman was attending to his knitting. The watchman was there, all right. He had a revolver in his hand when the officer found him back near the engine room, ready for any one who might be hunting trouble, and he had an electric searchlight in his other hand to hunt for intruders. But in order to avoid so far as possible any meeting in the big dark factory that might be a source of mutual embarrassment the watchman had taken the simple precaution of strapping a large bell to his ankle. By this means he had been able to avoid any unpleasant scenes when he made his rounds from time to time during the night.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

CASE CALLED IN COURT ABOVE

James I. Dunning, Charged With Murder, Dead of Consumption.

MISTRIAL LAST COURT.

Killed a Neighbor Named Alsbrook About a Year Ago.

James I. Dunning died at his home near Crofton Monday night of consumption.

He was under indictment for the murder of D. E. Alsbrook about a year ago and was tried at the last term of court, the trial resulting in a hung jury after a protracted deadlock.

The prisoner appeared in court at that time pale and emaciated and was the picture of sorrow and dejection as he waited from day to day for the verdict, surrounded by his family consisting of a wife and several children. The evidence in the case against him was conflicting. He was riding along the road by which Mr. Alsbrook was at work and the altercation took place in the public road, with no near witnesses except Dunning's two boys. They testified that Alsbrook came into the road and attacked Dunning with a scythe with which he was cutting weeds. The family of Alsbrook saw the killing from a distance and swore that Alsbrook laid the scythe down when he went into the road and was unarmed when Dunning shot him with the gun he carried. There had been previous trouble between them over family affairs.

IMMIGRANTS FOR THIS STATE.

Agent Green Will Try to Solve Servant Problem.

Frankfort, Ky., July 22.—State Immigration Commissioner Elijah P. Green is making plans to go to New York about the first of August to pick out some likely-looking immigrants and direct their feet Kentuckyward. He will go to Castle Garden and other landing places which bring in the importations from Europe, and hopes to secure a high class of foreigners to settle in a number of points in the State, where he has received information; desirable immigrants to act as house servants and farm hands will be welcome.

Agent Green believes that he will be able to divert enough foreign servants to Kentucky to solve the servant problem in Kentucky for some time to come.

DR. WHARTON DEAD

One of the Ablest Men in the Baptist Church.

Atlanta, Ga., July 20.—Dr. M. B. Wharton, pastor of the Baptist Church of Eufaula, Ala., and former United States Consul to Sonnerberg, Germany, died here tonight, aged 69. Dr. Wharton was an author of many religious books, and was regarded as one of the ablest men in the Southern Baptist church. Dr. Wharton has filled many pastorates in the South, being at different times located in Baltimore, Louisville, Ky., and Bristol, Tenn.

NARROW ESCAPE

Of Little Girl Who Fell on Picket Fence.

Janie Buck, the eleven-year-old daughter of Mr. J. W. Buck, fell from a fence and was painfully but not seriously injured. She was walking on the top of a fence, and losing her balance, fell on another picket fence. One of the pickets entered her breast but only penetrated the skin. She had a very narrow escape from perhaps fatal injury.

EVERYTHING BOOMING

For the Great Hopkins County Fair, at Madisonville,
Aug. 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8th.

Madisonville, boasts of having the best county fair in the south, the grounds are only a short distance from the court house, about four squares, back fare is ten cents each way, no more, the streets are all kept well sprinkled leading to the grounds. The track is one of the best in the country, the Amphitheatre large and comfortable, barrels of pure spring water filled with ice are always kept in front of grand stand, free to every one. No gambling and no intoxicants are tolerated in any way on the grounds. Most all of the booths have already been rented, something that has never happened before in the history of the Fair, which undoubtedly indicates enormous crowds this year and the class of race horses this season will excel anything that has ever before been seen on county fair grounds. Stalls have already been engaged for over 75 crack racers, which insures racing of the highest type. The free attractions this year differ from those in the past. The educated bears and goats alone being well worth the price of admission, to say nothing of the man who makes three distinct leaps from one balloon, using three different parachutes in his descent. The management has left nothing undone to make the Fair a grand success from every standpoint, and if you miss it, you will miss the greatest of all fairs. The railroads have agreed to make one fare round trip plus 25 cents, and run special train from Hopkinsville on last three days. So make your arrangements to spend one gala week and witness the grandest out door amusement ever offered to the public.

DESPERATE ATTACK

Made on Coal Fleet on Ohio River.

Morganfield, Ky., July 22.—A report has reached here that last night about midnight an armed body of men gathered on the bank of Ohio river, between Dekoren and Caseyville, where the West Kentucky Coal Company barges were anchored prior, and fired several volleys of shot into the fleet.

The chief engineer was struck by two balls; one passing through the abdomen and the other hitting him in the foot. After the engineer was shot he jumped into the river and swam down the river about half a mile, where he was picked up and taken to Sturgis.

One of the barges was sunk by an explosion of dynamite.
